

Bach nook

Get the look

We are getting into holiday mode and we might be heading off to a family Bach over the Summer break. I thought in every Bach there needs to be a special comfy nook, for reading, morning coffee, day napping or arvo drinks. I've put together the perfect comfy, cozy, eclectic "Bach nook".

The hero piece here being that gorgeous dusky pink chair. With beautiful soft curves, looking the epitome of comfort. Keeping with the curves and colour theme, a very sweet foot rest in the perfect shade of blue. Bringing in texture and natural tones, the rattan side table. Every good chair needs a side table. Bringing those colours together and really defining this space, is the gorgeous round rug with a tribal style print. A round rug is only really suited to define a smaller space, so this is perfect for a reading nook. Adding a bit of brass and curvy fun, is a stunning floor lamp. The oak book shelf in the background, a key Bach piece. So practical, to house all those books, puzzles, board games and holiday treasures found when the family is exploring. A rattan/cane bar cart trolley, echoing the rattan side table and another Bach must! Style this trolley with coloured glassware and a brass lamp, a stack of books or magazines, plus beautiful beverage bottles of your choice. Artwork is a beautiful holiday vibe print, that ties in nicely with the rest of the look. A cute mug for that morning coffee. The scalloped planter box, to add more curves and greenery. Remember to choose your plants wisely for a holiday home or even opt for some fakes.

Lastly, I feel like a Bach always has an element of fun and quirky that your home doesn't. So I've added this modern cuckoo clock for some whimsy. I can just feel the serenity, happy holidays!
